How did the Fund perform during the reporting period?

The CRM Small/Mid Cap Value Fund, Investor Share Class (CRMAX) returned 3.41% for the 12 months end June 30th, 2025. The Primary (Regulatory Benchmark), the Russell 3000 Total Return Index returned 15.30% for the period and the Secondary (Performance Benchmark), the Russell 2500 Value Total Return Index (the “Index”), returned 10.47% for the period.

Against the Index, relative underperformance during the period was mainly attributed to the Fund’s portfolio holdings in the Financials, Industrials, and Materials sectors compared to the stocks included in those sectors in the Index. Conversely, the Fund’s portfolio holdings in the Information Technology, Utilities, and Consumer Discretionary sectors were a positive contributor to performance compared to the stocks included in those sectors in the Index. We continue to believe investing in companies that have strong management teams with the ability to effectively improve the returns of their businesses should drive compelling long-term returns over this and future cycles. We also believe investing in small and mid-cap stocks today provides the opportunity to generate inherently higher future potential returns, as this part of the market trades at an absolute valuation discount to its long-term average and at an extraordinary discount relative to large cap stocks.
